As we come together during Advent, we thank you for your faithful support in the year that we reached two million children every day. This incredible milestone has only been made possible by your prayers and generosity, as well as the commitment of our wonderful volunteers and staff around the world.

We hope you will continue to spread the word about our beautiful mission by sharing this short film during your services, on your website or on social media. It features uplifting messages from Moses Kopurot, who manages our school feeding programme in South Sudan, and our executive director, Daniel Adams. Since the beginning, prayer has propelled our mission forward. And with more than 58 million primary-age children out of school around the world, we continue to pray in hope as we think of the next hungry child waiting for Mary's Meals.
